Tiger 1976

Volume XXXIV

Lewis & Clark High School

Spokane, Washington

Everything
starts somewhere.

Some things have a lasting effect.

Some do not.

We've been around for 200 years.

We must be doing something right.

What lies beyond for us?

We still have lots
to learn.

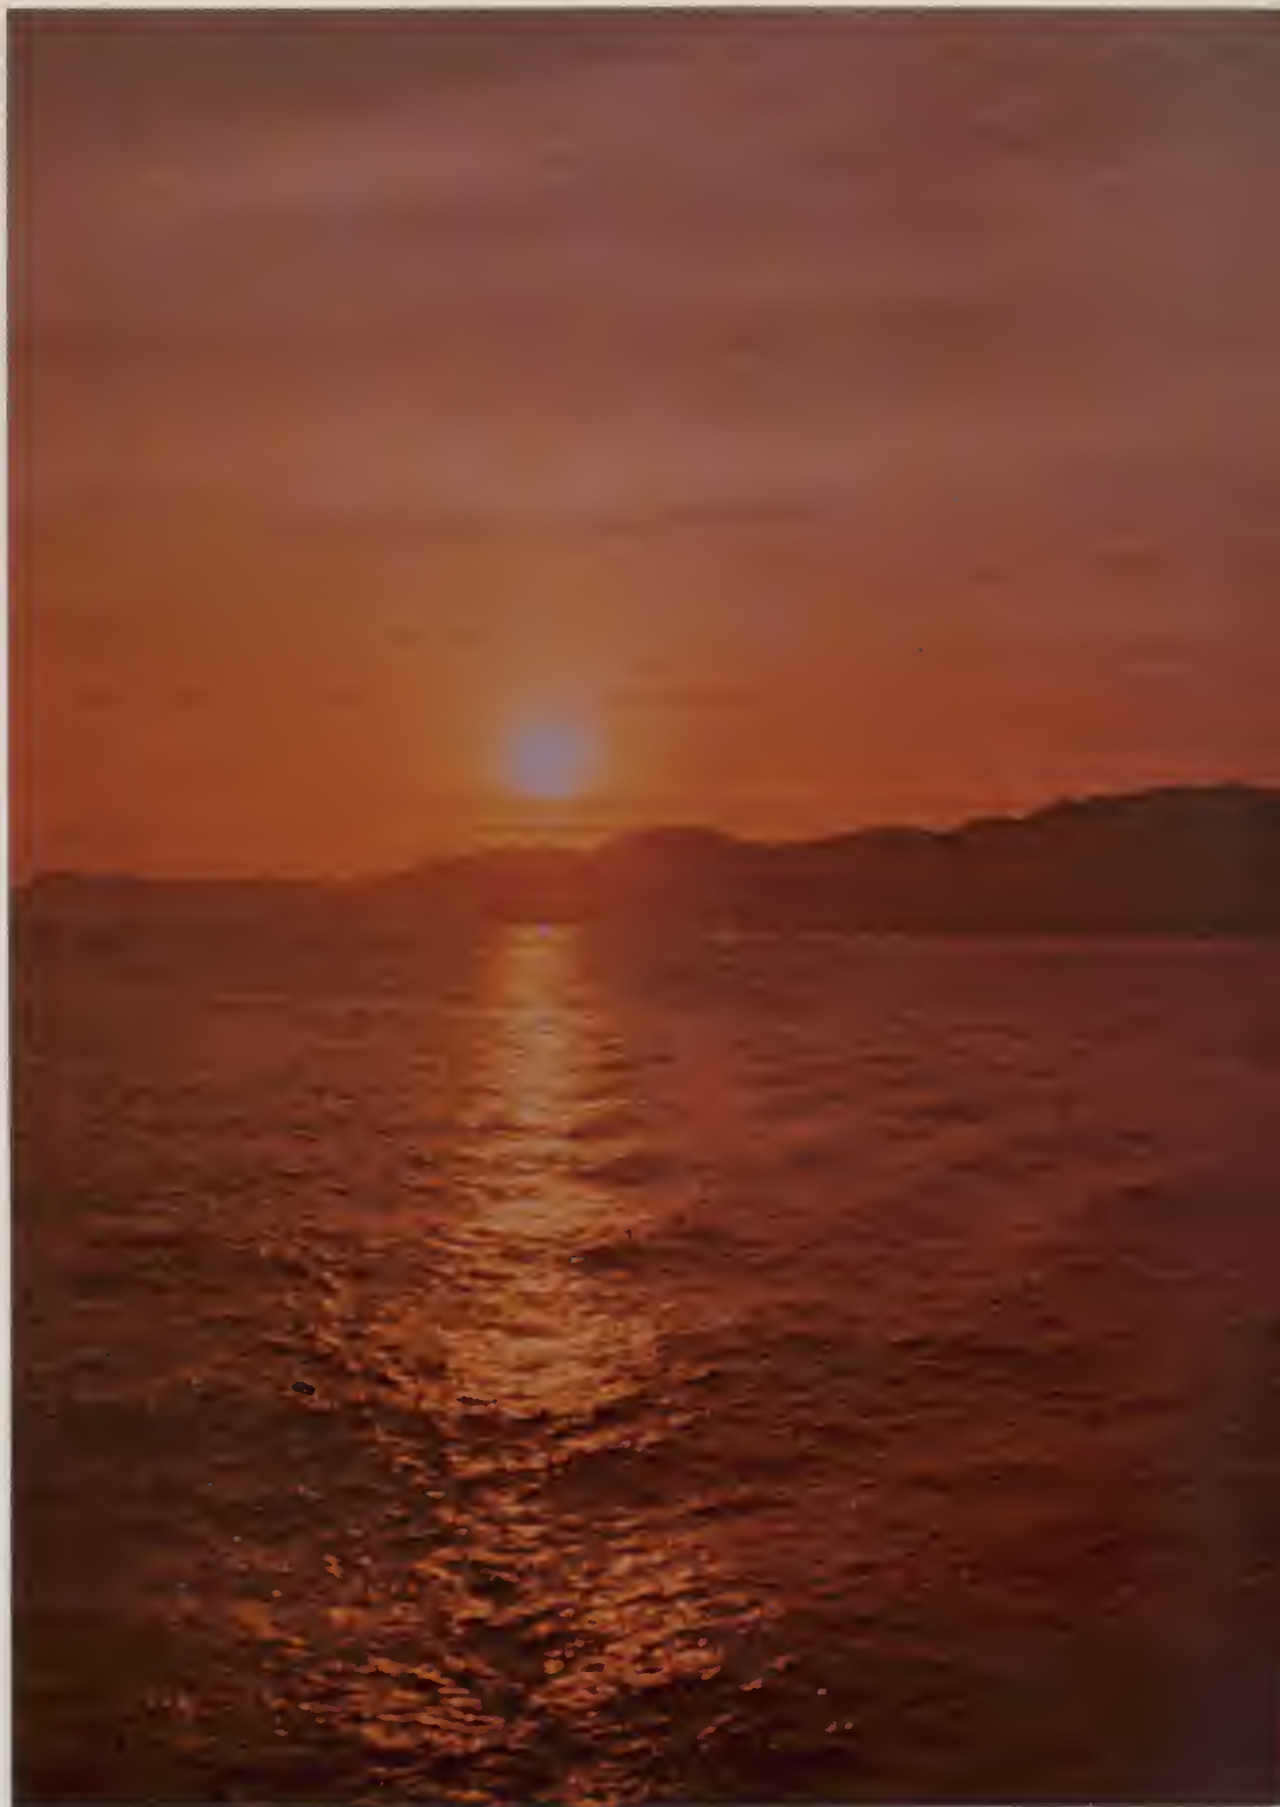

1976 must be ...

... Just the beginning.

Five seniors explore government at leadership camp

Last summer five seniors attended a leadership conference designed especially for high school students. Ruth Milton and Mary Summers spent a week at Girls' State held at Central Washington State College. Al Heston, Dave Dupree and Dave Kliewer attended Boys' State. The American Legion and its auxilliary annually sponsors these leadership camps to maintain and reinforce America's democratic system.

Fashion Board keeps busy

Downtown department stores select representatives from city high schools to gain insight into popular clothing styles among students.

The girls are chosen for their ability to get along with people, since they serve as sales clerks in the store. Their fashion consciousness must always be evident to better represent their stores. Since modeling is included in their role as a fashion board member, the girls received professional training.

Modeling, consulting with buyers, and special activities like being a Grinch or Raggedy Ann to amuse children at Christmas time keep the fashion board members busy.

Diane Sly, revealed that she enjoyed being the Crescent's representative because it enabled her to meet people from other schools in the area.

Penney's representative Cindy Brockhoff and Char Smith of the Bon Marche also appreciated the opportunity to meet new people and even celebrities. Cindy concluded "I was thrilled to be a part of Penney's ski convention where I met with Olympic skiers from Europe and the United States."

Well sir - it's been a long but short year. Isn't this page great? That's a good picture of you + Lisa. I bet Cathy loved that one. Thanks for being our advisor this year. I sure hope you can do it next year too. I can't imagine Mr. Miller being our advisor when we don't even know him + he doesn't know us. You have to do it. This year was really fun. Being an officer <sup>what</sup> made it fun. The club did word! Can you believe it? Will have to do it again next year, OK? Thanks for getting me out of all those classes. Especially typing. It was OK I guess - just monotonous. I enjoyed going on those errands with you. I just love sitting in loading zones and parking lots staring at cars + watching all the people go by!!! Thanks for helping me work out my problems + seeing the bright side of things. You always seem to have an answer for everything. Whenever I was down, I knew I could go into your office + you'd cheer me up. You still owe me a dance or two from the Dad-Daughter dance. I wish I could have been repaid at the Dr. Prom - but that's life - right? I hope you have a fantastic time in Europe - I wish I could have gone. Thanks for watching Wes for me at the Dr. Prom!! How terrible can I get? &&& It was great seeing you in San Fran. Wish you were going to Victoria next year. I'll never forget you too - you're a fantastic person + will always be remembered.

Hi Mr. Lobbell!

Well, I've made it through 4 yrs of school.
How can you stand coming back to school every year?
I've really appreciated everything you've taught me in typing and (business)
It was fun working in the office everyday jumbling my brain
trying to alphabetize stacks & stacks of papers Thanks for being a fun & good teacher.
Maybe I'll see you later.
Good luck always & Good golfing (I don't know why I said that but now when I think of signing off I always think of good golfing because of that golf tournament.)
see ya later.

Love,

Administration paves way

Administrators opened avenues of communication by instituting a new policy emphasizing the solving of problems by making people aware of them. Bearing the brunt of the controversy, Lewis & Clark principals worked on facilitating education by alleviating discipline problems.

Mr. C. W. Anderson, principal, has for six years endeavored to maintain the high standards that characterize L C. He urges all students to do their very best both in school and in extra curricular activities but suggests they do not forget to have fun.

As Vice-Principal, Mr. Robert K. Miller spends much of his time dealing with discipline problems. He therefore becomes a controversial figure among students. "He's got the toughest job in school," reveals Mr. Anderson. Dealing with curriculum development is just one of Mr. William Zimmer's jobs as assistant principal. He also selects the text books, decides which courses are to be offered, sets the class sizes and works with the budget.

Mr. George Palmer, dean of students, is a senior member of the administration, having been here for 30 years. He estimates that two-thirds of his time is spent working on attendance while the remainder is devoted to student guidance.

LOWER LEFT: "What can I say?" exclaimed Mr. Palmer.

UPPER CENTER: Mr. Anderson signs one of the many requisitions that pass his desk every day.

LOWER CENTER: Mr. Miller states his opinion on drug usage.

RIGHT: Mr. Zimmer remains neutral in the problems of attendance being discussed.

The following is Mr. C. William Anderson's traditional message to students:

We have a long, proud tradition of excellence in every respect of student life at Lewis and Clark High School. Many members of our community graduated from this school and have continued that tradition of school and community pride.

My challenge to you students of Lewis and Clark High School is:

Continue our tradition of pride in everything you undertake while here. Do the very best you can in every class, club, and team activity.

Besides striving for excellence, it is also important that you enjoy your time here at Lewis and Clark.

Counselors provide direction

Counselors, like teachers, spend countless hours helping students. Sometimes, as in the case of Mr. Richard Brown or Mrs. Muriel Rossing, a teacher returns to graduate school to study counseling. Originally a history teacher, Mrs. Rossing enjoys her adviser role. "I like the atmosphere of schools, and I love working in them." Mr. Brown serves as both a counselor and English teacher.

Mr. Jon Patten spends most of his time counseling in the office. He also teaches a nine-week course in psychology which gives him a change of pace.

Mr. Jim Mancinelli, new this year, says of the recently developed Career Center, "It is very beneficial to students seeking direction for their future."

Mr. Lawrence Thompson, registrar, is in charge of data processing. This includes grades, attendance, and the registering and scheduling of students. In addition, he is kept busy teaching two United States history classes.

UPPER CENTER: After helping a new student register, Mrs. Muriel Rossing calls to secure transcripts.

LOWER CENTER: Serving also as an English teacher, Mr. Richard Brown reports to Mrs. Nellie Lay, Community Liaison Officer, on a student's progress.

LOWER RIGHT: Attentively, Mr. Jon Patten listens to a student's gripe.

Business runs smoothly

UPPER LEFT: Attendance is Mrs. Barbara Grohs' main concern. She comments, "Oh, those tardies."

LOWER LEFT: Happily, Mrs. Gertrude Zarkin records the proceeds for the Senior Sucker Sale.

LOWER CENTER: Pausing momentarily, Mrs. Bernice Lucht answers a question from her boss, Mr. Anderson.

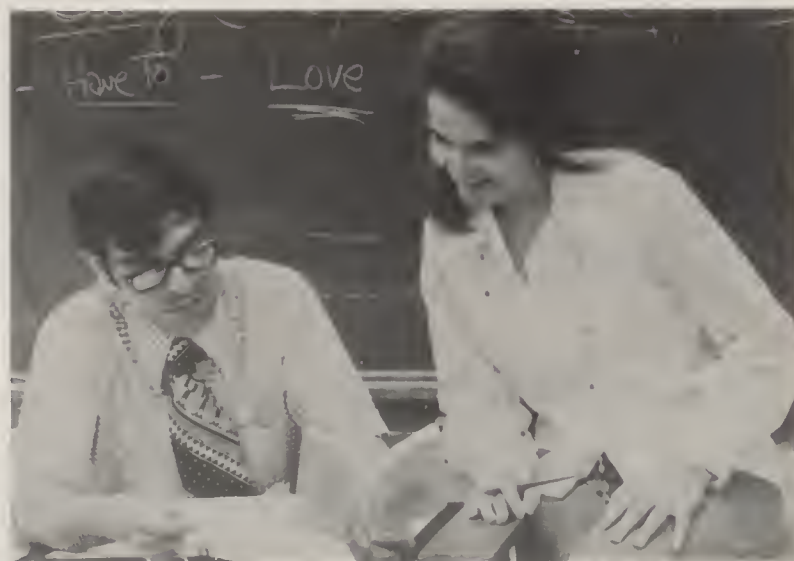

UPPER RIGHT: Besides being Mr. Miller's secretary, Mrs. Mary Takami, is responsible for the daily written bulletin, and the incoming and withdrawing students.

LOWER RIGHT: Mr. Palmer's secretary, Mrs. Agnes Harton, is in charge of all business pertaining to seniors.

FAR RIGHT: "A project that has been on the drawing board for more than fifteen years may materialize in the near future," says Mrs. Jean Secor, the librarian. She and her assistant, Mrs. Rollene Leslie, hope to make the library into a multi-media center. Audio-Visual equipment such as record and tape systems would be installed so as to make the library a complete learning experience.

Seniors pursue college credits

English 7-A, a course taught by Mrs. Spokane Hutchison, is an advanced senior English class which offers college credit. Numerous institutions have granted college credit to students who took this class at LC.

Spending his summer receiving special training in audio-visual methods, Mr. Pat Sullivan spent many hours creating a viable videotape recording program. He and his VTR students began to broadcast the daily bulletin on TV. It provided experiential learning about how a news program works. "It gave students who otherwise wouldn't be involved in school activities a chance to do something," he said.

Mr. Donald Black, English department head, sums up what it means to be an English teacher, "The greatest gifts a teacher can give his students are the love of learning, the pleasure of great books and great ideas, and the certain knowledge that they are a part of something bigger."

UPPER CENTER: "Focus camera two," directs Mr. Pat Sullivan in his VTR class. He is also an English teacher and Journal adviser.

CENTER: High School Bowl Coach Mr. Michael Aleman and Mrs. Joan Sharp, Debate Coach, discuss strategies.

LOWER CENTER: Mrs. Nancy Anderson plans her next verbal attack on the "Tiger" staff.

UPPER CENTER: Mrs. Mildred Marmont plans a nutritious menu for her Foods class.

LOWER CENTER: Long term substitute Mrs. Kathy Smith spent the first semester in the Learning Center for Mrs. Bernadette Charles who was absent on a maternity leave.

UPPER RIGHT: Also teaching in the Learning Center is Mrs. JoAnn Hansen.

MIDDLE RIGHT: "You're just kidding, you didn't really smash up the Driver's Ed. car?!" hopes Mr. Gordon Skillingstad, Driver's Education Instructor.

LOWER RIGHT: Mr. Stanley Faubion, Art Department Head, is perturbed when disturbed from his back room.

Drivers' Ed trains; Arts foster creativity; Learning Center assists

Two new courses, Household Arts & Crafts and Sewing for the Outdoors, have been added to the Home Economics curriculum. Both classes are coed. Household Arts & Crafts teaches quilting, macrame, the making of candles and Christmas decorations and other skills. In Sewing for the Outdoors, many students assemble Frostline kits to make sleeping bags, down sweaters and parkas, vests, and tents. "I've been really pleased with the students reaction to Sewing for the Outdoors," said Mrs. Karen Ithomitis. "They have worked hard in class and several are making money by sewing kits for other people."

Language, music expand creative talent

LC is the only city high school offering a Japanese language course. Also taught are German, French, Russian, and Spanish; Spanish having the largest enrollment.

One of the four foreign students is Maria Vargas from Honduras. "I like the people and the teachers of the school," she says. The other foreign students are Hiromi Ninomiya, Japan, and Joe and Wally Fong from Hong Kong.

The People to People tour for students from LC and Rogers is led this year by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lobdell. The group plans to visit Holland, Austria, Switzerland, France, Germany, Hungary, and Italy.

LOWER LEFT: German teacher Mr. Ilmar Kuljus tunes in to the headset in the language lab.

UPPER CENTER: Japanese language students listen intently to Mrs. Iku Matsumoto's story of how she broke her ankle.

CENTER: Language Department Head Mr. Harold Skinner demonstrates proper pronunciation to his French class.

LOWER CENTER: "Senorita, no es correcto," judges Mr. Wesley Read, Spanish teacher.

UPPER RIGHT: Ordering the new stageband uniforms is Mr. Michael Delany.

LOWER RIGHT: Mr. Gerald Hartley, Music Department Head, sings along with the Girls' Glee.

Forty students are planning trip to the east coast. Mr. Don Haynes, Mr. Ron Miller, and Ferris instructor, Mr. Larry Reid are taking Spokane students on a 19 day trip.

Leaving on July 23rd, they will fly to Quebec. By bus they will tour the St. Lawrence Seaway, the New England countryside, Boston, Philadelphia, New York, and end up in Washington D.C.

Mr. Ron Miller explains "the purpose of the trip is to compare America—200 years ago and today." They plan to visit famous historical sights including Lexington and Concord. Classes met prior to their departure to learn about the places they would be visiting.

Mr. Don Haynes says, "the trip will be a super experience, especially this year with some big bi-centennial celebrations occurring back East. It will undoubtedly be an adventure because my wife, Shirely, is going along and where ever she goes some funny things always happen."

Tour includes history

UPPER LEFT: Mr. Terry Peterson listens to a report on the economic status of the world.

CENTER: Mr. Ray Miller lectures on a serious subject. . . today's lunch menu.

LOWER CENTER: Unfinished worksheets make Mrs. Gerda Wright wonder if it's really worth it.

RIGHT: U.S. History teacher Mr. Don Haynes sings old fight songs for his class.

Courses, Computers increase curriculum

The math department has gone electronic. This summer a computer terminal was installed. Hooked up to Eastern Washington State College over telephone wires, the new computers were the focus for Mr. Tom Cline's class in computer programming. This course was designed to introduce students to computers and teach them the electronic language.

Two new science courses: tenth-grade Chemistry Study and eleventh-grade Chemical Biology, have also been added to the curriculum. "The purpose of adding these classes was to provide a wider range of science offerings for capable science oriented students," says Mr. Carl Milton, department head.

FAR LEFT: Mr. Gene Sivertson, department head, demonstrates how to substitute a value in a quadratic equation.

UPPER CENTER: Mr. Carl Milton seriously contemplates the state of the world.

CENTER: After assigning their students the complete memorization of the chemical symbol chart, Mr. Warren Hall and Mr. Peter Weitz are thoroughly satisfied.

LOWER CENTER: Mr. Jim Speer gets ecstatic when he thinks about biology.

UPPER RIGHT: Mrs. Joanne Walters explains semester grades.

CENTER RIGHT: When a transversal intersects parallel lines, certain angles are equal, explains geometry teacher Mr. Richard Higley.

LOWER RIGHT: Mr. Gene Arger pouts over the death of his bacteria.

Things have changed in the Industrial Arts Department. What was formerly the electronics lab was changed into a room for the new course, "Small Engine Repair." Taught by Mr. Patrick Higgins, this class enables a student to completely overhaul machines such as a lawnmowers, outboard motors, or motorcycles.

New equipment was also added to the Plastics classes. This included two internal carvers, three vices, and a new tool panel which helped to keep tools and equipment well organized.

UPPER LEFT: "I stole Mr. Stopher's round tuit, but don't tell him," confides business teacher Mr. Robert Lobdell.

UPPER CENTER: "Bob, did you steal my round tuit?" asks Mr. Jay Stopher, Business Law and typing teacher.

LOWER CENTER: DECA teacher Mr. Robert P. Miller leads a quiet, subdued discussion on retail management.

FAR UPPER RIGHT: Devotedly, department head Mr. Delbert Marshall checks Marie Timony's bookkeeping paper.

FAR MIDDLE RIGHT: "Quit screwing around," says Mr. Patrick Higgins, metal shop instructor, while talking to his class of nuts and bolts.

FAR LOWER RIGHT: Mr. Leo Weed instructs a student on molding plastic.

Shop gains equipment

Courses added with new teacher

Something new was introduced in the girls' P.E. department. A four week required course, "Outdoor Sports," was created to make the average person more appreciative of the winter months. "Most people hibernate in the wintertime," says teacher Miss Roberta Groth. "People need to learn to take advantage of the cold months." The class included field trips such as a free day of skiing at 49 Degrees North, ten guest speakers, snowshoeing, backpacking, making an igloo, and winter versus desert survival.

The cooks did something a little different. The first Friday of every month they made a special Bi-Centennial lunch.

UPPER CENTER: Playing volleyball with her sophomore students, Miss Roberta Groth demonstrates the importance of watching the ball at all times.

CENTER: Standing by the uneven bars, Miss Sonja Roach spots a student.

LOWER CENTER: Pausing momentarily, Mr. John Kahle, department head, prepares a final copy of his physical fitness report.

UPPER RIGHT: Evelyn Goodwin, Helen Romig, Jayne Greene, Thelma Hedin, Ruth Novak, Pat Koentopp are some of LC's cooks.

CENTER RIGHT: Judy Nicholson, Nina Reed, Mona Nix Jackie Norris, Audrey Sears, Lavina Hoefler are the other cooks.

LOWER RIGHT: Al Becker, Albert Reintmeier, the day custodians.

FAR RIGHT: Charlie Scott, Frank Fish, Bill Baker, Edna Gustafson, Cal Hal are the rest of LC's custodians and matrons.

LC	26	Rogers	30
LC	34	Shadle Park	24
LC	54	Ferris	17

1975 Boy's Cross Country team finished third this year, with a 3-2 record behind Shadle Park and Ferris.

This year's team was young with three sophomores, Scott Linton, Greg Smith, and Mark Ahrndt. Junior, and inspirational award winner Jeff Potter, and senior captains Perry Wong and Wade Vandermeer led the team as strong competitors in the city-league.

When asked about this year's team, Coach Jim Speer commented that his team's future looked bright. He chose Jeff Potter as outstanding runner since he placed fifth in the All-City and District meets, and fortieth in a large group at the state meet. Coach Speer added, "Jeff has a good future in distance running and needs only top competition to improve."

UPPER RIGHT: Scott Linton gasps for air as he trots on to the finish line.

LOWER RIGHT: Concentration is written on the face of Kris Stewart as he heads into the final stretch.

UPPER CENTER: Conscientiously, fall treasurer Chris Day counts the proceeds from Ti-Girl popcorn sales.

CENTER: President Becky Simpson and Vice-President Mary Summers agree on a compromise in the fall schedule.

LOWER CENTER: Historian Ruth Milton adds a newspaper clipping to the evergrowing T.G. scrapbook.

Ti-Girls bolster school spirit

For the 37th year LC's Ti-Girls were off and marching. Directed by Miss Virginia Danke and new assistant, Miss Roberta Groth, 54 girls made up the smallest group in Ti-Girl history.

Lighted stunts which have been used since 1948 were banned by city ordinances. The Ti-Girls, however, continued to perform their regular routine stunts without featuring the lighted shows displayed in a darkened stadium. As in previous years, Ti-Girls marched in the Lilac Parade. They also were invited to Wenatchee to march in the Apple Blossom Parade.

Although Ti-Girls are probably best known for their marching, other group endeavors for 1976 included a parent potluck, Christmas party, fall and spring luncheons, a presentation of "Alice in Wonderland" and a trip to San Francisco during spring vacation which highlighted the year. To earn the money for the trip, the girls sold candy, color day items and ushered for the WSU-UCLA game at Albi Stadium.

Ti-Girls also supported girls' athletics, cheerleaders, community service projects and helped promote overall school spirit. Requirements for Ti-Girls include a GPA of 2.2, sophomore standing, and passing a marching test.

The members, when asked about their organization, expressed that they liked to march, enjoyed yelling their lungs out, and most of all, liked the group with which they worked.

FOURTH ROW: Lisa Plastino, Paula Marchant, Kathy Kutaas, Mary Miller, Marie Timoney, Mrs. Thurley Pack, Lisa Olstad.

Vocational students gain practical experience on the job through participation in Co-op and Deca.

Cooperative Office Occupations Program, a course offered to seniors, is designed to give working experience in office and secretarial work. Student trainees receive supervised work experience in school by their adviser, Mrs. Thurley Pack. Co-op is not only beneficial to the members, but also helpful to businesses which are not in a position to implement their own training program. Because 26 percent of all graduating high school students go into office work, the Co-op program is expanding rapidly.

Distributive Education Clubs of America is a cooperative part-time employment program between businesses. Deca Adviser Mr. Robert Miller said that to qualify for this program takes excellent attendance, above-average grades, good personal appearance, genuine interest in business, and the ability to meet, talk, and work with people.

Hello Week brings class competition

Hello Week introduced the school year with a tricycle race, an egg throw, and decorating corners and cars.

Humming tricycle tires filled the front hall as the juniors were cheered on to victory in an early morning race. Egg throwing contests demanded great concentration from the teams as they tried tossing an egg back and forth over an ever increasing distance. The juniors managed to throw their egg the greatest distance and were awarded first prize. Thursday arrived with balloons and streamers to greet Corner Decoration Day and seniors were awarded first place.

Spirits rose Friday morning as decorations for the car caravan commenced. Each class decorated a car and the junior car took first. Later, these cars followed the football team to their second league victory.

At the week's end, points were awarded according to contest placement. Seniors came in first by a narrow margin.

RIGHT: LC secretaries Mrs. Agnes Harton, Mrs. Mary Takami, Mrs. Yo Omoto, and Mrs. Barbara Grohs sport new outfits purchased especially to display their Tiger spirit.

"Our goal is to be the best band in the city," relates Mr. Michael Delaney, director of the Lewis & Clark Tiger Band and contract music class.

Tiger Band is a multi-purposed group. They play at all the football games, perform half-time shows at Joe Albi Stadium, and participate in the Lilac Parade. They also perform at many school functions. They joined other fine arts students in state and district competitions held at Gresham, Oregon; Moscow, Idaho; and Spokane.

Contract music, a class for individual learning, helped students gain competency in music. "Its overall purpose is to relate all kinds of music to students of LC," reveals Mr. Delaney.

Clubs add members

Stage Crew, Key Club, and Chess Club all had a busy year with additional activities. Chess Club, advised by Mr. Carl Milton, practiced every night after school. The five top players entered in district competition.

"Stage Crew is one of the hardest working groups in the school. They spend hours preparing for assemblies, yet all people remember is their goofs," reveals Mrs. Spokane Hutchison, adviser for the ASB. The twelve members of the Stage Crew, led by Mr. Robert Lobdell, spent an inordinant amount of time working behind the scenes to help the cons run smoothly. The crew is responsible for all sound, lights, and prop equipment used in each con through the year. They have helped with such activities as the Junior and Senior Cons, the Minstrel show and the Ti-Girls production of "Alice in Wonderland."

The Key Club, a non-profit organization sponsored by the downtown Kiwanis Club, is a group limited to the young men of certain high schools throughout the nation. Following their yearly membership drive, the members elected Key-Hearts, honorary girl members, three seniors and two juniors. The 22 member club, under the direction of Mr. Rick Giampietri, helped the Kiwanis with a fall apple sale, worked at Santa's House to benefit Muscular Dystrophy, and aided in the Easter Lily sale. An annual car wash held early in the spring was one of their money raising projects.

Each of the three language clubs hold monthly meetings to unite students who speak a common second language and who have a desire to have fun. Club activities include foreign dish dinners, holiday parties, and bake sales.

Boasting the largest membership of the three, German Club held a district-wide Fasching Celebration, a formal masquerade, in February. Members also enjoyed Christmas Caroling.

Aiming to booster membership, Japanese Club increased their number of activities. A fortune cookie sale raised money to send a gift to Nishinomiya, Spokane's Sister City.

French Club hosted French students from Omak to a day of school and overnight. They were introduced to LC life and given a pot luck dinner. Lynn Thamm stated that she would like to see this be an annual event.

They did it because of 'Do It'

To promote school spirit and to prepare for the big game with Ferris, the week of October 8 through 12 was deemed "Do It" Week.

Many activities crowded the calendar. "Lunchroom Boogaloo", "Sock it to 'em Day", and "Color Day", all helped build interest in Friday night's game. The week ended successfully when the varsity football team defeated Ferris 7-0 to tie for first place in the race for the city championship.

Fall spurs many activities

While the nation watched, President Ford barely escaped death on three separate occasions. Karen Ann Quinlan's life became the topic of a controversial civil suit. Heiress Patty Hearst was captured and brought to trial. And Justice William O. Douglas, a 36 year veteran of the court, champion of the First Amendment, retired.

In Spokane, November elections ushered in new leadership. Three new faces joined the city council and two joined the school board. Voters also taxed themselves in order to provide funds for a self-supporting park on the Expo grounds.

At school, many events crowded the fall calendar. Money raising events filled much of the agenda. Deca spent several weeks selling class rings. Yearbook salesmen found it difficult to buck tradition and enforce a deadline for yearbook sales. Seniors too, spent a week trying to raise money. They scheduled a con, sucker and pickle sales to clear $125. Even members of the cafeteria crew became active. In celebration of the Bicentennial, the cooks dressed for different occasions: Gold Rush Day, Thanksgiving Bicentennial Day, Alamo Day, Colonial Christmas, and Liberty Bell Day.

Oldest high school newspaper in the west, "The Lewis and Clark Journal" completed its 75th year this spring as its staff gunned for their third straight first place over-all journalism award.

The "Journal" has received state-wide acclaim for its high quality and Mr. Patrick B. Sullivan, adviser, feels it is well deserved. "The staff puts a lot of hard work into the paper and that is reflected in their product."

Member of the High School Press Association, the "Journal" is involved each spring in an annual contest judging journalistic achievement in 10 areas. All Spokane public high schools compete as well as Gonzaga Prep, Marycliff, St. George's, Mead and valley schools.

A very high precedence was set after the "Journal" took seven out of 10 awards in writing categories last year, and Sullivan feels this year's staff is "just as competent" and has a good probability of doing equally well.

Students are in complete control of the paper's operations, both journalistically and financially, with Sullivan acting as adviser. The "Journal" is entirely self-supporting with a small amount of money coming from subscriptions and the majority from advertising which the staff-members themselves must sell.

Students who comprise the "Journal" staff must first take a semester course in journalism I. Top students from this class are then selected to fill vacant spots to ensure the highest quality staff. Staff members with above-average skills and/or seniority are chosen for editor positions.

Before each semester, a secret-ballot election is held for candidates who seek the "managing editor" position. The winner then takes command of the paper for a semester by appointing the staff and setting down editorial policy.

Overtimes, tension and a championship

In the Spokane City League's inaugural year in the state playoffs, the Tigers of Lewis and Clark represented themselves and the league admirably. Under the purposeful head coaching of Jerry Connors, the Tigers found themselves with a 6-3 record and a share of the City League title at the regular season's end. Full use was made of the Kansas City tie-breaker during the season. After having achieved their share of the title by winning two games in overtime and losing none, LC won a three way tie-breaker with Gonzaga and Ferris to earn the trip to state.

Backbone of the championship squad was its stingy defense. Opponents gained fewer yards against LC over the season than any of the other league teams. Three opponents failed to score a single point against the Tigers.

After the storybook regular season finale, LC defeated Kamiakan of Kennewick 29-8 in the playoffs initial round. Here too, the defense played a prominent role, scoring two of the Tiger TD's.

The season ended on a controversial note with a loss to the Richland Bombers, who eventually finished second in the state. Even this 21-14 loss could not erase the memories of a season which would go down in history books as the first time any city-league team had competed in the state playoffs. It was also the initial season for using the Kansas City tie breaker.

"They are the most improved B-Squad team I've ever worked with from game one to game eight," said Coach Phillip Pomeroy. Statistics validate this boast as the team ended the year five and three.

The quarterbacking job was handled by Pat Taylor and Ward Leland, who are both excellent passers. Chester Andrews was the leading rusher and Tom Lewis was the leading receiver and scorer with five touchdowns on the season. The B-Squaders showed defensive prowess with their three shut outs.

Freshmen gridders coached by Ray Miller came back for an even three-three season. They ended with flury in a 36-0 victory against Shadle Park. The quarterbacking was filled by Todd Conley, Darrell Andrews, and Bruce McCluskey. Matt Riley with help from Arther Fletcher led the team in rushing. Coach Ray Miller predicts, "I'll be surprised if these kids don't win the city championship when they are seniors."

ASB, Girls' Fed join forces

Girls' Federation and the Associated Student Body, although regaining their separate identities, were combined. For the first time, the Girls' Fed joined forces with the ASB and participated in Mrs. Spokane Hutchison's Parliamentary Procedure class.

Mrs. Hutchison who gained the reigns of the Girls' Fed, spent an involved year guiding both governmental groups. "It's the heart and the strength of a caring school," revealed Mrs. Hutch, "People is what it's all about."

Creation of a new election system was the chief accomplishment. Under the direction of Al Heston, president, the entire Parliamentary Procedure class worked on creating an election system which would facilitate greater student involvement.

The Girls' Fed worked hard with the Sunshine and Hi Fives to put on one of the finest Dad-Daughter Dances in LC History.

Runners show well in state

Lewis and Clark's Girls' Cross Country team under the coaching of Mrs. JoAnn Hansen ran to a 3-3 record and a fourth place league standing. Mrs. Hansen singled out two juniors, Anne Phillips and Julie Barnard as being team standouts. Anne placed fifth in the combined city-district meet and a fine showing of sixth in state, showing due respect for the fine competition in the Spokane City league. Julie placed 14th in the state meet held in Seattle. This being the first state meet, Lewis and Clark as well as the rest of Spokane made a name for themselves in state competition.

UPPER LEFT: Throughout the season, Coach JoAnn Hansen provided the necessary expertise and advice.

Spikers net fair season

Girl spikers were lead to a winning 5-4 season by seniors Mary Silrum and Maureen Tritle. The girls, although considered to be stronger fundamentally than last year's championship team, placed fourth in a much improved league. Since the remainder of the team, 18 members, are underclassmen, it shows promise for upcoming seasons.

Varsity, B-Squad, reach goals

The 1976 girls' varsity tennis team won the city league title with a superlative 9-1 record. Coached well by Miss Roberta Groth, the team suffered the only blemish on its record in an upset loss to Ferris. Led by junior Claudia Phillips, one of the premier junior women tennis players in the state, seniors Julie Newton, Janet Foss, Char Smith, Barb Patten, and Missy Pardini gave the team experience and motivation. Smith and Pardini combined to go undefeated during the regular season at the second doubles slot.

The girls combined with the varsity boys to overwhelm the competition in the Greater Spokane Falls Tournament. Claudia Phillips was the champion in singles; Janet Foss and Julie Newton won girls' doubles; Missy Pardini and Char Smith were second in girls' doubles, making a sweep of the event; and Jill Pardini combined with John Pederson to win mixed doubles.

Netters gain experience

The 1976 varsity tennis team, coach Jay Stopher's sixteenth edition, finished the fall with a disappointing 3-7 win-loss slate. Tiger netmen defeated Rogers twice by identical 7-0 whitewashes and took a 4-3 decision from North Central. Outstanding players in the five singles and two doubles matches format were Paul Craig and Ron Spangler.

The B-Squad, coached by Gene Sivertson, had a productive year. John Spitzhagel, Brent Nelson, and Dave Grainger improved greatly. The purpose of the B-Squad is to prepare freshmen, sophomores and juniors for the varsity level gaining experience and finesse under pressure.

At the end of the fall season, the combined boys' and girls' tennis teams combined to easily capture the title in the Greater Spokane Falls Tournament with a total of 22 team points. Ron Spangler and Mike Pubentz were second in boys' doubles, while Jill Pardini and John Peterson meshed well to take the Mixed doubles crown.

Winter brings . . .

Fathers and daughters were introduced to a new form of Girls' Federation Dad, Daughter Dessert. "Boppin' with Daddy'O" was the theme for the evening. Dads and daughters danced to music played by Lewis and Clark's well known stage band. At the end of the evening, awards were presented to Mr. Clark, Big John Award; Mr. Pfeifer and Mr. Milton tied for worst dancers; Mr. Eggers, worst dressed; Mr. Windler, most authentic costume; and Mr. Bailey for having the most children who attended Lewis Clark.

Juniors staged a miniature Johnny Carson show, as December 8 and 9 brought the yearly event, the junior con. Starring roles, like Johnny Carson, were portrayed by Peri Pieroni; Mae West, Lisa Calkins; Ed McMann, Tom McTigue; Sammy Davis Jr., Dwayne Jordan; Columbo, Dave Denton; Beer Lady, Katy Eggers; and the impersonator, Chris Derrick. The show was pre-empted by dancers and commercials.

Annual Christmas Con was presented to the student body on December 19. Choir sang carols while students representing angels, shepherds, Mary and Joseph, posed in the background. The Lewis and Clark orchestra entertained during curtain changes. The day ended with the choir serenading through the halls.

Other extra curricular activities broadened experiences. Loaded husses carried freshman P.E. classes to Fairchild Airforce Base to visit Fairchild Museum. The girls learned about survival in cold weather, desert and jungle. Another trip was taken to the Scholastic Art Show. All art students went to see the work of students from all over the city. Many people from L.C. were entered and humorous awards were taken, on paintings drawings and pieces of pottery. The five Gold Key winners from L.C. were David Craig, Karen Haugen, Julie Nelson, Mark Mayberry and Mark Worthington.

Tigers take second

1976 was a successful year for the Lewis & Clark Tigers. Under the direction of coach Don Haynes, the well rounded team play brought the Tigers out of a mid-season slump to a strong league finish in an emotional game against Ferris where the Tigers topped 52-41. At the end of league play, the cagers had a 7-3 record and second place standing which gave them a berth in the playoffs. Individual statistics had been close all season long. Rodney Chapple and Dave Kliewer led the team in scoring while Rick Terrell, Steve Saugen and Dave Kliewer led in rebounding with only three rebounds separating the trio by the end of the season play.

LOWER CENTER: Rodney Chapple, poised, and determined, prepares for a free throw.

When asked about Coach Haynes, Ross Herman commented, "Coach Haynes always worked his hardest, and did everything he could to help us win. He was more than just a coach, because he always seemed to understand us, and everyone on the team appreciated his coaching ability and his wit." Returning letterman Dave Kliever replied, "When I meet a man that feels things, is sensitive to himself and people around him, like Don Haynes, it helps me to understand myself and appreciate people who have different motives and ideals."

Coach Haynes had this to say about this years team. "I may have created a problem for myself because I know these seniors too well and I like them too much. This seasons Senior class has talent (Quickness, speed, jumping ability, attitude) but we've needed leadership and discipline. Potentially the sky is the limit for this group."

1976 was a good year for underclassmen basketball. The J.V. squad, behind the coaching of Mr. Al Snyder, wound up with a 9-6 record which was sufficient for second place in league standings. The team was led in scoring as well as rebounding by junior, Randy Brothers.

Under the direction of Bob Scott, the B-Squaders landed a 10-5 record and second place in league standings. Tom Lewis and Mike Montoya topped the stats in scoring and rebounding respectively.

The freshman team, coached by Larry Walker had a 6-6 record and a fourth place in league play. Standouts included Eric Tritle and Levin Brank.

Debaters, high school bowl speak accurately

Close to 100 schools within the Inland Empire competed in a game of quick recall, High School Bowl.

LC's High School Bowl team headed by Mr. Michael Aleman, consisted of John Tanski and John Klapp, seniors; Karla Vollmer, junior and Rob Henry, sophomore. John Carter, and Mike Mahoney were strong back up members.

Feb. 11, game day, began with a pep con, and then the spirit was transferred to the studio boosting players moral. After overcoming pregame butterflies, the bowl team went on to hammer Moses Lake, resulting in a 230-50 win. The Tigers then went on to Mead, in hope of a berth in the spring double elimination round.

Volunteers interested in being on the team, rehearsed answering questions on topics of general knowledge in all-oral study. Those who had been the most consistent in answering the questions were picked.

Mr. Michael Aleman, adviser, commented, "I do believe that this year's team was better prepared and more mentally alert than in teams past. We were good in all areas this year."

UPPER LEFT: "Klapp," calls Coach Mr. Michael Aleman as he drills team members in preparation for their February show.

"Debate helps students develop intellectual and persuasive speaking abilities that can benefit them in their future careers," explains the new adviser Mrs. Joan Sharp.

Last year's debate team voted on three choices for a topic. They chose, Resolved: That development and allocation of world energy resources should be controlled by an international organization. During the summer, debaters attended a workshop at Gonzaga to become more informed about the topic. After this preparation materials such as the national textbook are ordered to help collect evidence. Evidence found is put on a 3x5 card and filed for later use. Many hours after school and on weekends are spent to gain more knowledge on the subject chosen. Debaters must be able to defend both sides, affirmative and negative.

Debaters go to either league debates, tournaments, or individual events. In league debates, the debaters must be ready to chose either side. In a tournament, they are prepared to defend both sides. Four debates take place, plus the semi-finals and finals. Individual events include, oratory, impromptu, oral interpretation, dramatic interpretation, expository, and tall tales.

Debate team is included in the NFL, National Forensics League, for the first time. Certain people are selected to join by earning speech/debate points. Scott Larson, Peggy Malloy, Claudia Phillips, Verna Stroup, John Swenson, and John Tanski who as a senior first year debater earned 150 speaking points.

Many district debates are held all year long. In January the topic was changed. It is now Resolved: That the development and allocation of scarce world resources should be controlled by an international organization.

Directed by Mr. Michael Delaney, the string orchestra and stage bands provided musical entertainment for school functions and for community service. The string orchestra performed at the spring concert in May, and added their talents to the Christmas Con. LC's stage band was divided into two groups this year. They played for the Junior Con, Father-Daughter dance, and several other functions. Like the String Orchestra, the stage band entered in competition contests with schools from around the area.

With four concerts a year, including a fall concert, a Christmas concert complete with tableau, a March, and spring concert, the choir, Girls' Glee, and Tiger Tones spent a busy year.

Directed by Mr. Gerald Hartley in his twenty-third year at LC, the singing groups worked together to achieve a harmonized sound. In addition, the Tiger Tones sang for various community functions.

Under the direction of Coach Sonja Roach, the Girls' Gymnastics Team participated in four compulsory meets and numerous optional routines. The girls in gymnastics must participate in two types of routines. The compulsory exercises, which are the "set" exercises performed by all competitors of each event; and optional routines, which are those each girl makes herself, comprise a meet.

Every four years the compulsory routines are revised. This season introduced change for more difficult stunts were added. Floor exercises, vaults, balance beam, and uneven parallel bars compose the basic routines. Each gymnast strives for a ten point routine which receives a superior score.

Also striving are the Mat Maids whose main objective is to promote wrestling. With the help of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Pomeroy, this organization has gained much popularity through its numerous activities.

The Mat Maids have many responsibilities which include fund-raising activities that assist in sending the wrestling team to state tournaments and on other trips. The girls also score the matches, and make programs. Committees were assigned to handle publicity, bulletin boards, concessions, wrestler of the week, and many others.

Lewis and Clark's varsity wrestling team, although young and inexperienced, was again co-champions with Rogers with an 8-2 record.

The Tigers have few seniors but leadership is strong with Bill Millspaugh defending his Region IV title with a record of 14-7-1. Brad Watkins gained a 20-3-1 record while Bill Tormey, although out much of the season due to injuries, obtained a 6-3 record.

Leading the remainder of the team were sophomores Terry Hirata, with a 23-2 record, and Bill Close, 6-11. The strength is continuous throughout the team with Rene Hayashi, Eric Hirata, Rich Olsen, Craig Yonago, Keith Ward, and Tony Watkins, leading the juniors with 16-7, 17-4-3, 20-5, 16-7, 6-6, 13-11-1 records respectively. Mitch Watkins, sophomore, has done well also with a record of 6-4.

"The team was young, they were kids. This building year turned out to be successful. All of the coaches were pessimistic, but toward the end our attitudes changed quite a bit," remarked Head Coach Phil Pomeroy. He, along with coaches Rick Giampetri and Terry Peterson felt they fulfilled their goals to develop the younger wrestlers and give them experience.

District and Regional Tournaments went well as four wrestlers went on to the State Tourneys in Tacoma. Rich Olsen, and Terry Hirata both took first places at District and second at Regionals. Craig Yonago was district and regional first placer at 115 lbs. Brad Watkins at 148 placed second at District and first place at Regionals.

Young grapplers gain experience, technique

"We've got a good group of sophomores and juniors. They're coming on strong," states junior varsity coach Rick Giampetri. "We had a successful season and the team standings were good."

The junior varsity matmen ended the season with an overall 7-3 record, losing once to Rogers and twice to Ferris. The young Tigers avenged their first loss to Rogers by defeating them 35-18 in their second bout.

"The team did a pretty good job. We stuck together, put our minds together and the coaching was great." Mark Ahrndt commented.

Coach Giampetri sees many prospects to fill key sports next season. Leading them is Pat Farrell with a 7-6-1 record. Giampetri feels that Pat's strength and experience as a junior will make him a tough contender as a senior. Close behind Farrell are junior Steve Cory 8-3 and sophomores Mark Ahrndt 8-2, Mark Mansell 7-7-1, Craig Miller 7-3-1, and Wayne Ueda 8-4.

The team's feelings were summed up by Craig Miller, "The team was good but without Coach G., we couldn't have learned what we did."

Gaining experience and learning techniques were the main goals of the freshmen wrestlers. Coach Terry Peterson faced a small turn out, but he felt his quality was more important than quantity.

The freshmen wrestlers did place high in the Dual Meets taking first place. In the Spokaloo Tournament they had two first places with Deyo Hirata and John Thamm. Lee Gmeiner captured second while Brent Reid and Don Hopkins gained third. Randy Nelson did well also in taking a fourth place standing.

In league standings, individuals also exhibited their strength. Lee Gmeiner ended with an 8-0 record. With 7 wins and 1 loss each were Joe Erwin and Deyo Hirata. Brent Reid had a 6-2 record.

Conventions, cons, cagettes brighten winter months

Girls' basketball for the '75-'76 season started out strong but was hampered by injuries ruining their chances for a playoff berth. Led by senior Teresa Oriard and junior Cece Hunt, the team finished with a strong 3-3 record and third place

Coach Jay Stopher commented, "This year's team is tremendously talented and the only thing that held us back was inexperience." He was impressed with how well the girls played together, especially since this was their first year of competition. "They practiced four different offenses and four defenses, and considering their inexperience, they did a great job," Stopher added. The girls appreciated all Coach Stopher's help. Teresa Oriard commented, "Mr. Stopher was always patient when we made mistakes and his encouragement helped us a lot." Senior starter Sue Schell added, "He was more than just a coach. He was a good friend to all of us."

LOWER RIGHT: The men's faculty show their legs in the performance of "Stomper Room."

Parents and teachers combined talents to present, "Turn On". Portraying the morning announcer Earl E. Bird, Swede Torngren was assisted by the newsteam of Walter Krankcase, Norm Anderson; Ray Harris, Fairly Reasonahle; and Doris Renford, Wendy the Weathergirl. "Another Mornin'" was the first of 14 songs sung during the many act play. The men's faculty dance performed a number entitled "Stomper Room," and the women teachers danced on Dinah's Show. LCTV also produced such shows as the Mating Game, Aunt Katie's Kitchen, Dinah's Place, Caramba, Wide World of Sports, and Gunsmoke. Duane and Della Clemons served as chair persons making important decisions like the appointment of director, Ed Sonnenhorn.

For the third year in a row, students from Lewis and Clark were involved with the Kids for Kids program. Paul Eggers, chairman, took charge along with Mrs. Spokane Hutchison, to plan a day for underprivileged children. 100 students marched with over 250 kids in the Junior Lilac Parade.

Five debaters proved their skill in debate in several district tournaments. In January, Dawn Wiley won first place at the district tournament held at Whitman College. Three debaters also earned awards from the District Five tournament; Scott Larson, 2nd, impromptu; Mike Mahoney, 2nd, extemp.; John Tanski, 2nd, impromptu. John Tanski also won 1st place at EWSC in impromptu.

Spring ASB and Girls' Fed. were busy with many activities in the spring semester which included the Lilac Coronation, a 50's dance, and Kids for Kids Day, where 100 students from LC and other schools escorted underprivileged children to the Junior Lilac Parade where they marched and attended a picnic afterwards. Also included were the annual Minstrel Show put on by the parents and teachers of LC, and the fashion show and mother-daughter tea presented by the Girls' Fed., Hi-Five, and Sunshine girls. In addition, ASB licorice sales were held to help alleviate debts and to add to its fund.

Ti-Girl spring officers were also busy recruiting new members and planning for a trip to San Francisco during spring vacation. A routine for the Spokane Lilac and Wenatchee Apple Blossom parade was worked out and a spring luncheon for the departing seniors and oncoming plebes was held. Uniforms were revised by adding orange and white stripes to the plain black sweaters, and short-sleeved sweaters replaced previous vests.

"The Lewis and Clark Journal" started spring semester with a new staff and an old debt. New reporters adhered to journalistic principles in reporting and commenting on school events. Veteran staffers meanwhile were forced to cope with a more difficult problem. The "Journal's" financial deficit caused them to cut back on the number of pages in each issue forcing them to be more concise.

In spite of financial difficulties, Sheri Baily was happy with her reign as spring editor. "New writers from Journalism 1 help us have a good semester," she commented. "But mostly time was spent trying to make up the money we were behind."

Two spirit groups, the B-Squad Cheerleaders and Tigerettes, have spent a hectic year encouraging their team to victory. The Outing Club meanwhile, was busy exploring nature.

Five girls, selected last spring, formed the B-Squad cheerleading staff. They supported the B-Squad and junior varsity teams by leading cheers at games and athletic meets. In addition, they were busy painting signs, raising money, and boosting spirit. Advised by Miss Sonja Roach, they spent an active year.

Sporting new uniforms, Tigerettes cheered their team at every varsity sporting event. The 35 girl group, advised by Mrs. Joanne Walters, does more, however, than simply attend the games. Like a service club, they provide assistance which is directed primarily at the athletic program. Throughout the year, they sponsored sundry money raising events.

Outing Club had a late start this year. The main purpose of this club was to enable the members to have fun and enjoy themselves while doing things pertaining to the outdoors, such as camping, hiking, canoeing, and skiing. "There are no officers in this club simply because we don't need any," reveals advisor Mr. Tom Cline. "We're too busy having fun in the great outdoors." In the past, they've gone to the Grand Canyon, and Utah Canyonlands.

Groups active in school spirit

Cheerleaders assist Tigers on to Victory

1976 Varsity Cheerleaders, under the direction of Miss Sonja Roach, led the Tigers to a very successful year. The main goal for the cheerleaders was to promote all sports and various school activities. Consisting of ten cheerleaders, the squad was divided into two equal groups in order to cover winter and spring sports. In this way they were able to cover more athletic events since so many wrestling, basketball, track, baseball, tennis, and golf matches are scheduled.

As usual the cheerleaders were busily involved with their broad range activities such as cheering, sign painting, card making, cupcake baking and decorating athletes' houses early in the morning with signs. Ruth Milton sums up the group's opinion when she reveals, "We may not be perfect but we've got personality."

Unity was BSU's key goal. Many activities brought the group of young black people together. Advised by Mrs. Nellie Lay, the BSU held various functions.

Rap sessions were held in order to discuss problems within the community and the school. The rap sessions were aimed at helping people understand each other. President Darlene King explained their purpose by revealing that "During the sessions feelings were explored."

Clubs active

While Papyrus and the Cast were busy exploring literary and theatrical arts, the Red Feather club explored their cultural heritage.

Papyrus Club enabled students to future their literary experience. The club published a magazine called "Stylus" and held their annual writing contest in the spring. Sporting some 15 members, the club was led by Susan Libberton, editor; Teri Coy, assistant editor; and Mrs. Nancy Anderson, adviser. Mark Worthington, Sue Whiteley and Karen Fischer were responsible for art and publicity. "I really like Papyrus," reveals Sue Libberton, editor, "because it lets me be involved in doing what I enjoy."

The Cast was well in action once more as adviser Mrs. Beverly Carswell directed. Though not as large a group as in past years, the drama club proved to have talent. Activities included performances for children at the Shriners' hospital, entertainment for the Salvation Army party, an all-school play, and grade school tours.

A new club, Red Feathers, was organized at LC. Under the leadership of two seniors Kathy Kutas and Paula Marchant, and with the help of advisers Mrs. Nellie Lay and Mrs. Spokane Hutchison, the group was formed to foster ethnic awareness. Members consisted of those with an Indian legacy.

MIDDLE: The Cast, LC's drama club, rehearses a play to be presented the following week at the Shriners' hospital. They are: Debbie Freedman, Chip Young, Dan Godsey, Debbie Fellis, Eugene Gomes, Mark Gietz, and Jan Wasson.

LOWER RIGHT: LC's newly formed Indian club, the Red Feathers, include Nancy Bandy, Rosalie Garnier, Debbie Clift, Kathy Kutas, Janys Wasinger, Teri Coy, Barbara Bloom, Paula Marchant, Joe PiaPot, adviser Mrs. Nellie Lay, Jason Branting, Paula Branting, Terry Hart, and Gloria Vialpando.

LC	6	Ferris	6

Finishing with an excellent 4-1-1 record and second place, the girls' golf team proved to be a hard working group. Practicing almost every day, they improved their skills and showed it as the season progressed. Coach Bob Scott stated, "We have a young team. None of the girls are seniors so we'll have them all back for next year."

Leading the team was sophomore Cece Hunt, who averaged 45 strokes per round. The girls have a tough schedule, playing Ferris who usually is up near the top and Shadle who does well, too. Coach Scott and the girls are looking to be on top of the standings next fall and the prospects are looking good.

Boys' golf suffered a disappointing fall season but had a good spring turnout. Under the direction of Coach Bob Lobdell, the team finished with a 1-4 record and fifth place overall. In the All-City Tournament, the Tigers came in fourth place. Coach Lobdell commented "Our All-City performance was very encouraging." The leading players were senior Bob Caskey and juniors Tom Moore and MacKay Miller. All three wound up with a nine hole average of 43.

With two juniors and a freshman in, Brad Ruhs, the team will have plenty of experience for next year. Coach Lobdell is confident in these players and sees a good future for the team.

Tracksters brave elements

"The track team made a much better showing this year because of the excellent number of boys that turned out," revealed Coach Pat Pfeifer. More depth was apparent in all areas except the distances where individuals had to take up the slack.

"The freshmen had an excellent turnout also and some of the best individuals in years. They will provide an excellent basis for the future varsity teams," Mr. Pfeifer added.

The coaching duties are headed by Pat Pfeifer in his third year as head coach, his assistants are Jerry Connors, weights, James Fischer, sprints, and Mike Flatt, hurdlers and jumpers.

FAR RIGHT: Brian Ellsworth trains for the quarter mile.

Mrs. JoAnne Hansen had this to say about the '76 track season, "We have a hardworking team with depth. The returning seniors and juniors plus upcoming freshmen and sophomore talent make for an excellent season."

District champion Anne Phillips with help from seniors Maureen Trittle and Janis Gaetano, had an outstanding year.

LOWER RIGHT: Maureen Trittle suffers through many hours of practice necessary to a successful season.

Upperclassmen show leadership

"I'm proud of the way they worked together," says Coach Ray Miller of the varsity baseball team.

Leading the team were senior leaders Jeff Johnson, Jim Gross, Dwight Nelson and Eric Miller. They were joined by other senior lettermen Dave Powell, Pete Boyd, Rick Pavey and juniors Jay Floyd, Stan Webb, and Mike McCluskey. The team depended on the talents of junior Kelly McEachran and sophomores Cary and Craig Miller and Pat Taylor.

The team didn't participate in the spring tournament but instead traveled on funds which they earned themselves through car washes, turkey raffles, and they also chopped and sold firewood. One entire weekend was spent grooming the field with the dads working as hard as the players.

New league improves competition

A new league has been formed called the Greater Spokane League which includes the six city schools and some of the valley schools so the competition was more intense than in the past years.

Senior Jeff Johnson commented, "There was a stronger sense of unity among the players. Coach Miller installed pride in us as a team unit." The team's feelings can be summed up by its motto, "We'll find a way."

Sue Schell chosen Lilac Princess

Chosen from a multitude of senior girls, seven finalists were picked to participate in the annual Lilac Coronation. Each girl was judged on three main points; appearance, poise and speaking ability. Speaking was judged on the basis of a prepared speech on the theme, "You've come a long way baby"; and an impromptu. While awaiting the verdict, the audience was entertained by Stephanie Barton, dancing; Larry Edwards and Lisa Calkins, singing and dancing; Joe Starr acting in a mime theater; and the Lewis and Clark Jazz Band. Twelve judges, including three students, three teachers, and six Lilac judges returned with the results. Mr. C.W. Anderson crowned the new Lilac Princess, Sue Schell.

 LOWER RIGHT: Liann Mummey studies an old yearbook searching for new ideas for the faculty section.
 FAR RIGHT: Adman Terry Porco takes time out from selling ads in order to relive the last minutes of his most recent hockey game.

"We did it this way last year," lamented the "Tiger" staff, as 1976 brought a changed yearbook. New adviser Mrs. Nancy Anderson introduced the staff to the concept of an updated yearbook. Copy, captions, and meaningful headlines were introduced to help reveal the story of 1976.

Organizational difficulties were prevalent as the staff had to adapt to a new teacher and master journalistic techniques. Copy was written in order to provide more information about the year. Captions give direction and meaning to pictures. Emulating a magazine's format, this year's "TIGER" has utilized caption and copy blocks in order to facilitate picture identification. After pages are laid out and copy and captions are written, the finished products were sent into the company to have them printed.

When asked why he spent so many hours after school working on the "TIGER", a member of the sports staff revealed, "Yearbook plays an important part in students' lives. In particular it's meaningful to graduating seniors, since it contains memories of their four years at Lewis and Clark."
